

July 25, 2011

eForce Hosts Collection Event for Whole Foods Customers at Local Headquarters in Grays Ferry

eForce Compliance will open up its local headquarters in the Gray's Ferry section of Philadelphia to Whole Foods customers and employees looking to get rid of their old electronics. The event will be held on July 30th, from 9:00 a.m. lasting till 2:00 p.m. This event is held in conjunction with the shared commitment to environmental responsibility held by both eForce Compliance and Whole Foods.

Whole Foods has a variety of sustainability initiatives in place at their stores across the country, including an extensive recycling station located in-store, reusable bags available for purchase, LEED certified buildings and renewable energy investments. The collection event will help Whole Foods customers carry out their dedication to environmental conscientiousness by knowing that their electronics are being recycled responsibly because of eForce's zero-landfill, zero-export policy. EForce will accept TV's for $15, computer monitors for $10, and any other used electronics free of charge.

To learn more about eForce Compliance's dedication to responsible recycling, visit their website at www.eforcecompliance.com or call 866.468.6935.

Media Contact:
Charles Nygard
215.964.6666
www.eforcecompliance.com

###